Express Mail Label No.: EV334318122US Date of Deposit: November 10, 2003

IN THE SPECIFICATION:

Please substitute the following paragraph for the paragraph located on page 12, lines 15-

20 of the originally filed specification:

--The expressor fluid may include two fluid components that, when mixed together, create a fluid that is heavier than the heaviest component of the biological sample. For example, if the biological sample is blood, the two fluid components mixed create a fluid heavier than the red blood cell component (i.e., the heaviest component) of blood, so that all the components of the blood (e.g., red blood cells, white blood cells, platelets palettes) may be separated and removed from the processing bags.--.
